Question 06:

On p. 332 of SCE's 2022 WMP, SCE states that "though C-Hooks are not part of SCE's construction standards, SCE inherited a limited number of C-Hooks from its past acquisition of Cal Electric."

- a) When did SCE acquire Cal Electric transmission assets?
- b) What was the total circuit mileage of the acquired assets?
- c) How did SCE inventory these assets at acquisition?
- d) Does SCE currently operate other acquired distribution or transmission assets within the HFRA which were not built to SCE's construction standards?

Response to Question 06:

- a) SCE acquired the Calelectric Power Company in 1964.
- b) The total circuit mileage of the Calelectric Power Company system in 1964 is unknown.
- c) SCE currently does not know if it inventoried Calelectric Power Company assets at the time of acquisition.
- d) SCE currently does not know which, if any, legacy distribution or transmission assets within HFRA were not built to SCE's standards. However, SCE strives to ensure that all of its facilities meet General Order 95 requirements.
